

What did the artist identify as being important in his journey from initial idea to realisation?

